

The honeymoon was over when a bride, in a burst of mistaken zeal, washed her husband's stinky pipes with soap and hot water.

For every mustache there was a mustache cup.

Kids yelled "beaver" whenever they saw a white horse or a man with a beard.

People thought twice before they bought anything that cost more than a dollar.

If you searched all the mattresses in a small town you'd find more money than was on deposit in the local bank.

Anybody who kept his front door locked was regarded as downright unfriendly.

Before going out for the evening, a man could read a long article in the Saturday Evening Post in the time it took for his wife to lace up her corset.

A juvenile delinquent was a boy who furtively dipped the long curls of the girl in front of him into the inkwell on his schoolroom desk.

People spent less of their lives hurrying to get to places they didn't want to go in order to do something they really didn't enjoy.

Those were the days! Remember?

Decision in Kennedy Case May Be Weeks

By CORNELIUS F. HURLEY
Associated Press Writer
BOSTON (AP) — The Massachusetts Supreme Court may take weeks to decide on Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's challenge of proposed procedure for an inquest into the death of Mary Jo Kopechne, legal sources said today.

The five justices who heard arguments Wednesday gave no inkling of when they would make their ruling known. But those familiar with court routine said that while it could come at any time, it was unlikely before Oct. 28 and might take longer.

Attorneys for the senator and nine other petitioners, calling the state inquest law unconstitutional in its present form, asked the justices to:

- Grant counsel for those called to the inquest the right to cross-examine witnesses.
- Order the inquest closed to the press and public.
- Disqualify Judge James A. Boyle of Edgartown District Court from presiding, as he would normally do.

Edward B. Hanity, counsel for Kennedy, said the senator was not trying to block an inquest but wanted his rights protected if one is held.

At one point Chief Justice Raymond S. Wilkins asked Hanity: "Are you claiming an inquest is unconstitutional no matter how it is conducted?"

"No, your honor," Hanity replied, "not if this court lays down new rules and restrictions."

Judge Boyle had ruled that the inquest be public but that because of the space problem only accredited newsmen would be admitted to the 132-seat Edgartown courtroom. The judge also said persons called to the inquiry could be accompanied by attorneys while testifying but that cross-examination of witnesses would not be permitted.

Mother, Child Perish in Fire

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — A young mother and her three-year-old daughter died Wednesday afternoon in a fire that destroyed their house near Elkins in Washington County.

An Elkins Fire Department official said they arrived too late to save Mrs. Joyce Nichols, 24, and her daughter, Angela Dawn, 3. Mrs. Nichols' husband, Richard, was not at home at the time.

The house, which was completely destroyed, is two miles off Ark. 16, west of Fayetteville.

Bartlett Asks for Directed Verdict

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — Ernest Bartlett Jr., 30, of Fort Smith, convicted on 26 counts of federal law violations in the operations of defunct Arkansas Loan & Thrift Corp., asked Wednesday for a directed verdict of acquittal.

A motion for such a verdict was filed by Bartlett's attorney, Sam Sexton Jr., of Fort Smith, in U. S. District Court here, where a jury found Bartlett guilty Sept. 26.

U.S. District Court Judge Owen Harris, who presided over the trial, rejected two earlier motions for directed verdicts of acquittal.

The new motion contends that:

- The court erred by denying a motion for acquittal at the conclusion of the giving of evidence.
- The court erred in denying a motion for a mistrial.
- The verdict was contrary to the weight of evidence.
- The verdict was not supported by substantial evidence.
- The court erred in its charge to the jury.
- The court erred in denying a motion to suppress testimony of Douglas W. Parker and thereby violated Bartlett's rights.

Parker was the law partner of Charlie Garner of Fort Smith, formerly attorney for AL&T. AL&T organized in 1964, operated savings accounts. In 1968, the Securities and Exchange Commission asked U.S. District Court Judge John E. Miller of Fort Smith to put AL&T in receivership and Miller granted the request.

In September 1968 Miller declared the firm insolvent. An audit indicated the firm's assets were about $3 million less than its liabilities. During the trial, Bartlett contended the audit finding was inaccurate.

Refuses to Spend Billion on Pollution

By MARK BROWN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The House, although nearly tripling the amount recommended by President Nixon, has refused to spend the full $1 billion authorized by Congress to clean up the nation's rivers and streams.

In rejecting the billion-dollar figure, the House Wednesday did vote to spend $600 million, rather than the $214 million called for by the President.

"The issue is clean water vs. dirty water," said Rep. William E. Minshall, R-Ohio, leader of the fight for higher spending on water pollution control. "You can have your choice."

The House, however, in a 148-146 vote chose to heed Appropriations Committee Chairman George Mahon's advice to settle for the $600 million. The money was part of a bill appropriating $4.5 million for the Atomic Energy Commission and public works projects in a number of congressional districts.

After the narrow defeat of the Minshall amendment, the appropriations bill was passed 396-3 and sent to the Senate.

Water pollution also was an issue Wednesday in the Senate, where a bill authorizing the government to charge shippers and drillers for cleaning up oil spills was approved 86-0. The measure also requires states to start limiting runoff of pesticides, including DDT, into lakes and rivers.

The $600 million will be spent for grants to states and local communities to build sewage treatment plants. The Water Quality Act of 1965 authorizes total spending of $1 billion this year, but except in 1967 the program never has been fully funded.

Minshall and other conservationists in the House had campaigned for more than a month to raise the appropriation to its authorized amount, at one time claiming to have the support of 220 representatives—more than a majority.

But when the Appropriations Committee raised Nixon's $214 million figure to $600 million the support for Minshall's amendment drained away.

The push to increase spending for water pollution control coincided with release last month of a report by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare that some 8 million residents of American cities now are drinking dirty water.

Cmdr. Bucher Can't Believe It Is Real

By RICHARD E. MEYER

MONTEREY, Calif. (AP) — "Sometimes," says Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher, "I just can't believe it was all real."

The man who commanded the intelligence ship Pueblo is attending a Navy postgraduate school now and pondering his future.

When he looks back—on his ship's capture, 11 months of imprisonment and torture with his crew in North Korea, an inquiry that ended with a court-martial recommendation—it is "with a sense of unreality."

And there have been nightmares.

"There is this dream," he said in an interview, "that on account of some legal technicality the United States is sending us back over there, that we have to go back to prison."

"I couldn't quit dreaming that dream. It came again and again. When I'd finally wake up I'd be dripping."

"There were other dreams . . . of hearing my men screaming in prison . . . and straining and straining to identify whose scream it was, and learning the sound of each man so I could tell through the walls who they were kicking."

Negro Judge Settles Riots at Las Vegas

By M. W. MINARON JR.
Associated Press Writer
LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A Negro judge said he would make an announcement today that would end the intermittent violence that struck the mainly Negro west side the last four nights.

"We've made a deal," Municipal Court Judge Robert Mullen said Wednesday night after meeting at his home with about 30 young black militants.

Mullen declined to disclose details in advance of his promised announcement, but declared: "I can guarantee that there will be no more violence."

The west side generally was quiet Wednesday night, although scores of young blacks roamed through the area. The trouble has been confined to that section, where most of the 30,000 blacks in this city of 160,000 reside. It is about three miles from the Las Vegas Strip gambling area.

The disturbances have resulted in one shooting death and more than 50 injuries and police say the trouble may have contributed to another fatal shooting.

Property damage from rock-throwing, fire-bombings and looting was in the tens of thousands of dollars.

Blacks rode in the area in convoys of up to 30 cars Wednesday. Police made no effort to interfere.

"All we're doing is watching them," Deputy Police Chief Amos Elliott said. "We don't want to overreact to anything they might set up for us. We don't want to be baited. We're playing it very cautiously."

There were scattered fire-bombings, incidents of rock-throwing, and one or two reports of gunfire but no new injuries.

Doctor Quits, Says Space Aims Changed

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Dr. Eugene Shoemaker, the Apollo program's chief geological investigator, says he is quitting because U.S. planning focuses on "space spectaculars," instead of exploring of the solar system. "We really need to learn to use man in space, to make the man more efficient," Shoemaker said Wednesday. "If we can't make man's mission to the moon worthwhile, we have no business sending him to Mars."

Shoemaker, 41, made his remarks in a speech at the California Institute of Technology, where he is a professor. He said he would leave the team after the flight of Apollo 13, probably next spring.

Shoemaker said Apollo 11 engineers were so concerned about "getting man flying around up there" that they neglected scientific experiments.

Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. had insufficient equipment for exploration, Shoemaker said, because "science was patched onto this system many years after it was designed."

The Army's action against Turner, who now is retired, came shortly after Chicago police superintendent James Conlisk said the general lied when he testified Chicago police gave him 396 confiscated weapons for his own use.

Conlisk said Turner told him he wanted the guns for Army training and museum display and had signed receipts stating they would be destroyed when no longer of use to the Army.

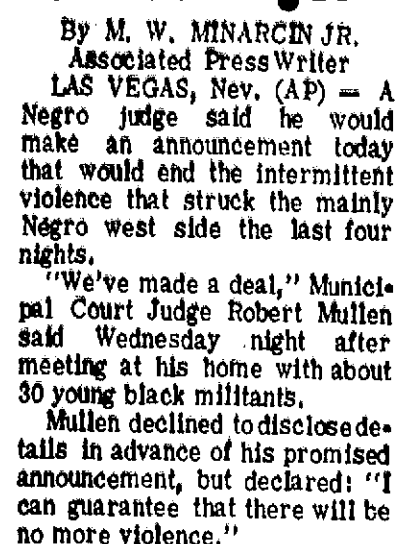

Turner has admitted he sold "the cream of the crop" of the small arsenal to a gun dealer, kept the money and did not mention it in his regular 1968 income tax return.

The firm was founded in 1967 and did 87 per cent of its $1.2 million first-year business with three club systems in Vietnam run by three of the firm's own founders, Bellino said.

He said other business firms selling goods to the clubs were put on notice they would receive no orders at all if they did not deal through Maredev.

3 Killed in Mt. View Plane Crash

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Ark. (AP) — Three Memphis men were killed Wednesday when their airplane swooped into a guy wire strung across the White River and crashed near Allison, three miles north of here.

One man survived.

State Police identified the dead as Dennis Lee Hewitt, 40; Joseph R. Evans, 38; and Joseph W. Dowlen, 32. Hewitt was the pilot and Evans the copilot, police said.

The survivor was James Northcutt, 32, also of Memphis. While under treatment at a hospital here, he told officers that he was a passenger in the back of the plane, with the other three men riding ahead of him.

Northcutt was the only one of the three to get out of the plane after it crashed. He said he didn't know how he did it—he just became conscious of being in the river.

The plane sank to a depth of about 25 feet.

Northcutt said the four were scouting the White River for a planned float trip. The guy wire is high above the water, connecting two utility poles, each mounted on a ridge on opposite sides of the river.

The plane went over Sylamore Ferry, hit the wire, and then fell into the water about 100 yards further downstream at a point about 25 feet from the bank.

Children's Hour Planned Over KXAR

KXAR will begin a half hour program for children ages 3 to 10, at 6:00 p.m.

The programs will begin with a series of stories told by Uncle Jay who will relate such children's classic stories as "Heidi," "Hans Brinker" and others.

Uncle Jay took training in story telling in Educational arts under Dr. Fly Barnard at Southwestern Baptist Theological seminary at Fort Worth. He has conducted a children's hour for 10 years on WEMC in Harrisonburg, Virginia.

Around November 3 KXAR will add the tale spinner library for children from liberty records with the classic stories for children told by professional artists.

cluded comment on the Grand Jury report.

"If that's the way they see it, that's the way it is as far as I'm concerned," he said. "They've spoken and that's their business."

Ward was ill with the flu and a high temperature when he was informed of the slaying and followed through on the case without asking assistance, according to Tudor.

"The pursuit of responsibilities as investigative officers while ill reflects tenacity and devotion to the job," the Grand Jury report said.

"However, it is more commendable, even mandatory, that in such instances other personnel be called in to take charge to assure thoroughness in the work and avoid impairment of the total investigative function which would, as demonstrated, otherwise result."

Scott said the criticism that the investigation wasn't pursued to its fullest extent could be made in many investigations.

"I've never conducted nor have I ever seen a perfect investigation," he said. "It's always debatable. Anybody can second guess. The Grand Jury didn't criticize our investigation except in the broad scene—that he (Ward) had what he thought was a strong prima facie case and he quit."

"This is a justifiable criticism. I think the same criticism could be made in a very, very high percentage of investigations that are conducted."

Scott said he didn't expect to take any disciplinary action against Ward, who wasn't mentioned by name in the Grand Jury report.

"I just don't think a man should be condemned for not doing some things in a situation in which he thought the facts were so obvious he didn't think it necessary," Scott said.

Wedding Vows Are Repeated

MRS. ROGER EUGENE NUNN

White mums, ivy, and seven-branched candelabra holding cathedral tapers filled the sanctuary of the First Baptist Church on Friday, October 3 for the wedding of Miss Rachel Address Batson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Franklin Batson, II, and Roger Eugene Nunn, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Thaddeus Nunn of Little Rock.

The Rev. Gerald Trussell officiated at the double-ring ceremony. Mrs. H.A. Spraggins, organist, played a program of nuptial music and accompanied the soloist, Will Knox Address of Tallahassee, Fla., uncle of the bride. He sang "Panis Angelicus" and "Whither Thou Goest" before the exchange of vows and wedding hymns as the couple knelt on a prie Dieu at the conclusion of the ceremony.

James Ed Nunn of Little Rock, brother of the groom, and Mark Batson of Arkadelphia, cousin of the bride, lighted the candles.

The bride entered on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. Her traditional gown of white bridal satin was fashioned with a round neckline trimmed with seed pearls, large puffed sleeves ending in wide, fitted cuffs, and a fitted bodice which had a self bow in front. The full skirt swept into a cathedral train. Her veil of French illusion was held in place by a headpiece of white satin leaves trimmed with seed pearls. She wore a gold engraved locket, the gift of her late great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. B. K. Address of El Dorado, and an heirloom ring, the gift of her grandmother, Mrs. W.K. Address of El Dorado. On top of a hand-embroidered, satin-covered white Bible, the bride carried a cascade of white feathered carnations centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Jim Address, aunt of the bride, was her matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Cathy Field, Mrs. Walter Hargis, Jr., Miss Carol Kirby of Dierks, and Miss Bobbie Nichols of Hot Springs. Each wore a formal gown of avocado green faille. The A-Line dress had short sleeves and was trimmed with a self-fabric rose. Green and gold velvet leaves held an illusion veil, and a bouquet of bronze mums was carried by each.

Preceding the bride were the flower girls, Miss Susan Leim and Miss Diane Kellam, who were dressed in similar fashion to the other attendants. Master James Randall Address, Jr., cousin of the bride, was the ring bearer. James Nunn of Little Rock served his son as best man. Groomsmen were Charles Batson, III, brother of the bride; and Wendell Ketchum, Gary Laney, Art Armour, all of Arkadelphia. They also ushered with Jim Address, uncle of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Batson wore gold crepe trimmed with lace and matching accessories. Mrs. Nunn chose pale green crepe with matching accessories. Each planned an orchid of a blending shade to her shoulder. Orchids were also worn by the grandmothers of the wedding couple, Mrs. Charles Batson, Sr., Arkadelphia; and Mrs. H.E. DuPriest, Pine Bluff.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church. A green, gold and white color scheme was used. Mrs. Jewel Moore, Jr. greeted the guests and introduced them to the receiving line.

The bride's table, covered with white net, was centered with a silver epergne holding bronze and white mums. The three-tiered wedding cake was trimmed in gold roses, and lime punch was served from a crystal punch bowl. Mrs. Ray Lawrence, Mrs. Talbot Field, Jr., Mrs. E.H. Stewart, and Mrs. William Jones cut the cake and poured the punch.

A mixture of autumn hues, centered the groom's table, where chocolate cake and coffee were served by Mrs. Julius Brown of Pine Bluff, Mrs. R.H. Batson of Arkadelphia, Mrs. Will Address of Tallahassee, Fla., and Mrs. R.M. Jones.

Miss Cynthia Trout presided at the bride's book while seated at a table decorated with a memory candle and the hand-embroidered, satin-covered white Bible carried by the bride. Dressed in avocado green formal attire, Misses Virginia Address, Jan Rowe, and Libby Address of Tallahassee, Fla., distributed rice bags.

When the wedding couple left for a trip to the Ozarks, the bride wore a beige and coffee ensemble and planned the orchid from her wedding bouquet at her shoulder.

Mr. and Mrs. Nunn are now at home in Arkadelphia, where the groom is employed and the bride is a junior at Henderson State College.

Bell-Bottoms Bow Out

Make use of your bell-bottom pants. Ladies—at least the daytime variety. They're bowing out this fall—making way for the skinny-leg pant look for casual wear. Wide pants will hold their own on the evening scene, however.

Mrs. Eola Ellis, Project Leader. Mrs. A.T. Denham, Associate Extension Home Economist and Cayce B. Smith, Associate County Extension Agent assisted with the organizational meeting along with plans for club meeting.

The club has only been organized a few months, but the boys and girls are enthusiastic about their club and energetic about their projects.

Shover Springs 4-H Club Aids Community

The Shover Springs Club was reorganized in 1958 by Mr. and Mrs. John Hawkins with eight members. At the present time, the club has 24 members. The Main Leader is Mrs. Homer Poindexter, with Mrs. Truman Arrington as Assistant Leader. Other adult leaders are: Mrs. Aaron Skinner, Parliamentarian; Terriel Sparks, Project Leader; and Aaron Skinner, Recreational Leader.

President is William Dillon; Vice-President, Paula Poindexter; Secretary, Sheryl Bright; Assistant Secretary, Sue Dillon; Reporter, Lanette Arrington; Recreational Leader, Harold Sparks; and Photographer, Steven Skinner.

For recreation this year the club has had several parties, a bicycle hike, a walking hike, and ice cream supper, and a hayride with a wether roast and games afterwards.

For money making project, the club has had a Bake Sale and made approximately $40. Later they had a Chili Supper and cleared around $80.

Steven Skinner, Paula Poindexter, and Paul Poindexter won in the County Chicken Barbecue and were able to compete in the District Chicken Barbecue.

During County Activity Night, Lanette Arrington won first place in the Dress Revue and Insect Identification. Paula Poindexter won first place in Illustrated Talks.

In state competition, Lanette Arrington received an A award on her evening gown in the State

Dress. Paula Poindexter received an A award on her Illustrated Talk. Lanette also entered the 4-H Dress Revue at the Four States Fair held in Texarkana.

For the Club Project the club has continued to pick up trash on the roadsides and they also built an incinerator for the church. The club members painted mailboxes in the Shover Springs community.

Mr. C. H. Parton gave William Spradling, one of our junior members, a Black Angus heifer in the District Fair and won First Place. He also won third place with another heifer he had raised.

Lanette Arrington also attended the 4-H Citizenship Short Course held in Washington, D. C. during August.

The club has bought needed materials for youth whose families experienced disaster. The Shover Springs 4-H club meets the third Tuesday night of each month at 7:30 at the Shover Springs Fellowship Hall.

Challenges Board Legality

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Dr. Dale Cowling, member of the Pulaski County School Board, filed suit Wednesday in Chancery Court challenging the legality of actions that appointed former Supt. Leroy Gattin to the board Sept. 28.

Judge John T. Jernigan was asked to bar Gattin from acting as a director of the district while the case is pending.

Cowling cited a state law which provides that if a vacancy occurs on a school board it shall be filled by a majority vote of the remaining directors.

Cards Trade for Allen, Flood Quits

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Controversial Rich Allen was traded to the St. Louis Cardinals Wednesday, or was he?

The Philadelphia Phillies announced the trade of Allen to the Cardinals for catcher Tim McCarver, outfielder Curt Flood, relief pitcher Joe Hoerner and outfielder Byron Browne. Infielder Cookie Rojas and pitcher Jerry Johnson went along with Allen.

Flood, however, heard of the trade and immediately announced he had retired from baseball.

The Cardinals said Flood's decision didn't change a thing. "Once the trade is made, it goes," said a St. Louis spokesman.

Phillies general manager John Quinn said only, "I have no statement until I have had a chance to talk with Flood."

The deal, according to the Cardinals' spokesman, could wind up in the office of the commissioner of baseball.

Allen, the slugging first baseman, was joyrilled at the news of the trade. "Six years in this town (Philadelphia) is enough for anybody. I'm glad to be away from Quinn and all of them. They treat you like cattle."

Flood said in a statement released by a public relations agent: "If I were younger I certainly would enjoy playing for Philadelphia. But under the circumstances, I have decided to retire from organized baseball effective today (Wednesday).

The 32-year-old Flood and the 27-year-old McCarver were the key figures in the deal for Philadelphia. Flood is one of the best defensive outfielders in baseball and hit .285 with 57 RBI this past season. McCarver hit .250 and had 40 RBI as the Cardinals' favorite to win the National League pennant for the third straight year, finished a disappointing fourth in their division.

Allen batted .288 with 32 home runs and 89 RBI in 118 games with the Phillies in 1968. In his six seasons in the National League he has become one of the most feared sluggers in the game. He has hit 177 home runs and driven in 544 runs, averaging .300 at bat.

Allen's trading with the Phillies was a foregone conclusion. The only guessing was to what club and for what players.

The 27-year-old Allen has been involved in one controversy after another with the Phillies' management. Two managers, Gene Mauch and Bob Skinner left the club after problems with Allen. Mauch was fired, Skinner quit, blasting Carpenter and Quinn for protecting Allen.

Allen's problems with the Phillies began July 3, 1965, when he had a fight during batting practice with teammate Frank Thomas. Thomas was released and after that Allen was the victim of intense booing from the home fans. Then there were missed airplanes, missed games, latenesses for batting practice, a bar fight, and an almost crippling injury highlighting his stormy career.

This past summer he was fined $1,000 for missing a flight to St. Louis. Later, June 24, he failed to show up for a double-header at Shea Stadium in New York. Skinner suspended him indefinitely. He missed 26 days and 29 games, losing in excess of $10,000 in salary.

When he finally came back, after a meeting with club owner Bob Carpenter, he vowed this was his last season in Philadelphia.

St. Louis has gambled that manager Red Schoendienst can accomplish what Mauch and

Mets, Jets Both Have Good Hurlers

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Just 80 feet down the tunnel from the Mets' noisy dressing room under Shea Stadium, George Sauer sat in the Jets' quiet clubhouse and pointed to one of the major similarities between New York's two championship teams:

"We both have pitching staffs."

The reference, of course, was to the Mets' pitching corps, led by Tom Seaver and Jerry Koosman, and to the Jets' quarterback, Joe Namath, whose passes to Sauer set up the Jets' victory over Baltimore in the Super Bowl last January.

The made the Jets the toast of the town, but suddenly they have found themselves orphaned and forgotten, a victim of the Mets' success—forced to workout at a prison while Shea Stadium is maintained for baseball and almost totally forgotten by those who adored them most just months ago.

But despite the fact that they have surrendered the spotlight and lost their No. 1 position in the eyes of New York fans they have become somewhat of a point of reference for those hoping the Mets can upset the odds and beat Baltimore in the World Series.

The pitching staffs cited by Sauer are just one of the many similarities that keep arising in discussions comparing the Mets and the Jets.

They both surprised by winning their respective league titles, they both went into the championships—the Super Bowl in the Jets' case and the World Series in the Mets' case—as underdogs and both faced Baltimore teams.

The Jets' won, and that end result is not lost on those who note the similarities.

"Just like us they've won their league title," said Sauer, joining in the similarity discussion, "and now they want to prove they're the best. They certainly don't want to come out second best at this point, which is the way we felt."

As for the sudden development of the Mets as compared with the Jets, Sauer said he felt the baseball team had put it all together in a shorter time.

"We had more potential for a championship before we won than they did," he explained. "In 1966 and 1967 we had close to championship caliber teams—and we didn't win. The Mets seem to have pulled all their potential together in one season and gotten the most out of it."

"They've been able to utilize their talent more fully than we were."

Sauer also expressed the opinion that while both are underdogs, the situations are not the same, although admitting each could claim a psychological weapon.

"In our case we had all the advantages in getting up for a game because it was ludicrous for us to be that much of an underdog," said Sauer. "Then there was the great competition between the leagues—the feeling expressed that the AFL was nothing and the NFL great."

"In the Mets' situation the odds are closer and it's accepted that both leagues are playing the same caliber ball. But the Mets have so much going for them even without that—their own spirit and their history of being the worst and now possibly the best."

Despite the fact he sat in a virtually deserted dressing room while the Mets' clubhouse was jammed with newsmen, Sauer obviously did not mind the attention being expended on New York's latest heroes, even if it was the Jets who were the temporary losers.

"There are some things we've had to do that are inconvenient, like playing on the road," Sauer pointed out, "but it's great for the city and that means the same fans who supported us when we were floundering, dropping passes and having bombs thrown on us."

"It's only natural that interest has flopped over to them. The Mets are what's happening now."

"Even our guys are caught up in it."

Letdown by Bobcats Could Be Costly

By RALPH ROUNTON
Star Sports Writer

At a time when the mental letdown would be an excuse for a lackadaisical effort, the Hope Bobcats return to Hammons Stadium to face the North Little Rock Oak Grove Hornets this Friday night at 7:30 p.m.

And though the Hornets stand 1-3 for the year and are not very outstanding, Hope will be in for a battle unless the Cats can hold that dogged attitude long enough to jump out into a comfortable margin.

What Head Coach Ronnie Higgins wants out of the Bobcats is a total effort offensively and defensively against an opponent whose weaknesses are many and easily exposed. This is because the team next week must give the supreme performance at Fairview against one of the State's top-ranked Class AA teams.

Oak Grove tied Joe T. Robinson for the District 5-A North title with a 7-4-1 record in 1968, but Joe T. this year has beaten the Hornets 41-6 in route to a 5-0 record and ranking in the state's Class AA powers.

In a year when the defense is fairly weak, the offense has also been ineffective while averaging slightly over a touchdown per game. The Hornets will pass the ball most of the time, running out of a 'pro set' more advanced than the Bobcats' formation with two split receivers.

The quarterback is junior Jack Dollarhide, a 165-pounder who throws and runs quite well but is not experienced enough yet. This is because Oak Grove had an All-State thrower last year in Walter Atkinson, who played all the time and was rarely if ever substituted.

Dollarhide's favorite target is flanker and wingback Jerry Trammell, a senior regarded by Coach Higgins as one of the Hornets' top athletes at 160 pounds. He and Dollarhide have combined several times for long bombs, but the QB may not be able to throw long with much accuracy due to rib injuries suffered last week.

In the split backfield, Coach Frank Myers has a workhorse in John Zinamon, a junior 165-pounder who started last fall. Zinamon is mostly a blocker and power runner, but counterpart Donald Barber, a tough little 160-pound junior, can get outside and is the main threat Oak Grove has running the ball.

Across the line, the Hornets have several returnees but the basis is on building for the future.

The tight end is Tom Prock, a junior 180-pounder who runs some patterns but is mainly used for blocking purposes. Beside him at weakside tackle is the team's best college prospect, George Hunt.

Hunt is a senior scaling 230 pounds, and he has excellent mobility in the line and downfield. Also, he teams well with weakside guard Jerry Berry, a 150-pound sophomore who has replaced the injured Sedgwick Harris, a sturdy senior weighing 175 who could see action.

At center the Hornets start another junior, Bobby Glover (195) who adds more size around the center of the front wall and is hard to get around on defense.

On the strong side guard position is Harry Fisher, a junior 160-pound hitter who only stands 5-5 in height. His partner at strong tackle is David Goggans (175), a senior who is starting for the third year.

Out at split end is Doyle Matthews, a quick 155-pound senior with good hands and moves to match.

That's the offense for Oak Grove, which has been slow to get started in each game and faces a rough test if the Bobcat defense is ready for a good performance.

Defensively, the Hornets line up in a 5-4-2, with two linebackers and a couple of cornerbacks with double responsibility in containing the ends and covering the flats for passes. Also, they will pull the nose man out and make him a middle linebacker on occasion, leaving a four-man front with seven men off the line of scrimmage.

Personnel-wise, at least seven or eight starters will be going both ways, but as mentioned earlier the Oak Grove defense is not too strong.

At the ends are Matthews and Charley Ricks, a 170-pound senior with good sense and a good eye to spot the direction of the play. Hunt is usually all over the field from his defensive tackle post, and David Goggans is adequate at the other tackle, Dale Linam, who starts at noseman, is a scrappy junior 150-pounder.

Hal Sutherland, still another junior weighing 155, will play at left linebacker and will also play some offense at flanker in a switch which moves Trammell to quarterback, Harry Fisher is the other linebacker.

Donald Barber and John Zinamon are the cornerbacks, and with their strenuous offensive duties in the backfield, their defensive play could fall off into the game.

The two safeties in the secondary are Jack Dollarhide and Randy Bland, a 145-pound junior with little experience and playing time.

It is likely that Hope will start out on the ground, simply battering the Oak Grove defense, but the passing attack on a good night would be very successful if Ronnie Massanello keeps his hot hand of over 60 percent completed passes.

Injuries have been more of a problem this week for Hope, but sophomore defensive tackle Lynn Norton will be able to play against Fairview. Meanwhile, Glen Hook will handle his duties. Also, Artis Martin is about recovered from a muscle sprain in the lower right leg, but he also was sick yesterday and missed the contact work while dressing out in shorts.

Lee Davis and Massanello are shaking off sprained ankles, and both are being taped daily. However, defensive back Stan James will be out for several games with a broken rib suffered in the 'B' game Monday night at Camden. Stan has been running as a regular on the specialty units, and will be missed especially for his statistics on kickoff coverage.

Coach Solomon's Yerger Bobkitts traveled to Camden this afternoon for an early 4:30 p.m. kickoff, due to the Lincoln Fairview game on the same field tonight. With a 3-1 mark entering the game, the Kittens were expecting a tough battle from the Panther Cubs of Camden, who always are a 4-A junior or high power.

Player Out to Defend World Play Title

VIRGINIA WATER, England (AP) — Gary Player, 33-year-old South African, set out to defend his World Match Play Golf title today in a bid to prove that he's the greatest golfer at this type of game in the world.

Player, winner of the Maccabey World Match Play title three times since it started in 1964, said: "This is the sort of game that jangles the nerves far more than medal play."

Player meets Jean Garaialde of France in the first round and other first round matches involve Gene Littler of La Jolla, Calif., against Ray Floyd of Lake Navasu City, Ariz., Maurice Bembidge of England against Bob Charles of New Zealand and Tommy Aaron of Calloway Gardens, Ga., against Tony Jacklin of England.

The winner will collect $15,000

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Every game seems like a big one for Fort Smith Northside.

Maybe that goes with being No. 1.

Last week it was fifth-ranked Springdale, this week fourth-ranked Little Rock Central.

Top-ranked Northside trailed Springdale in the second quarter and then had to score twice in the fourth period to whip the Bulldogs 21-7.

Central, with Tony Martin tossing two touchdown passes to Ray Gillespie, stopped Conway 20-0.

Little Rock Catholic whipped Central three weeks ago, but the Tigers came back with good performances against Horace Mann and Conway.

Northside hasn't lost in 29 games and should be up for Central.

North Dakota State Still Leads Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Unbeaten North Dakota State and Indiana (Pa.) State rolled up impressive victories and maintained their 1-2 position in The Associated Press' weekly Small College football poll.

The Bisons of North Dakota State, 24-6 victors over South Dakota, received seven of the 14 first place votes from a national panel of sports writers and broadcasters and a total of 242 points.

This gave them a comfortable margin over Indiana State, which walloped Elmhurst 27-0. The Pennsylvanians, 3-0, got two first place votes and 182 points.

Montana, 4-0, tied for ninth a week ago, advanced to fourth by beating Weber State, 20-17. Weber, seventh in the last poll, dropped to a tie for 14th place.

Delaware, Sacramento State and Akron all moved up into the Top Ten. Dropped from the elite ten were Weber, Northern Arizona and Northwest Louisiana.

Orioles Are Proud of Defense

By GORDON BEARD
Associated Press Sports Writer
BALTIMORE (AP) — Manager Earl Weaver, his raspy voice barely above a whisper, said today the Baltimore Orioles "have the best defensive infield in baseball."

The unit covers so much ground, Manager Mayor Smith of the Detroit Tigers once said trying to penetrate it was "like trying to throw hamburger through a brick wall."

Weaver, who claimed the colorful description was new to him, nevertheless agreed with Smith. And on Saturday, when the World Series opens, the New York Mets will be able to see for themselves.

The Baltimore infield is anchored by 32-year-old third baseman Brooks Robinson, who in 1968 was voted by fellow American League players as the best at his position for the ninth straight year.

Slender Mark Belanger, 25, is at shortstop, 26-year-old Dave Johnson plays second, and Boog Powell, 28, is at first.

"Brooks, Dave and Booger made the All-Star team this year," Weaver said, "and Mark would have, too, except for the rule which says every team must be represented on the All-Star squad."

Belanger finished runner-up in the balloting to Boston's Rico Petrocelli, but he was bypassed in favor of Jim Fregosi of the California Angels when Smith selected the remainder of the squad.

Robinson, who said the unit was the quality of Baltimore's infield when the Orioles won the 1966 World Series, said Belanger had "improved 100 per cent over last season."

A good defense and good pitching usually go hand-in-hand, and the Orioles have both.

"It's great pitching for this club," said Jim Palmer, who posted a 16-4 record in regular season play and won again Monday to complete a three-game sweep over Minnesota in the American League playoffs.

"The infield gobbles everything up," Palmer said "and Paul Blair in center field chases down my fly balls."

Palmer is scheduled to start the third game for the Orioles, following Mike Cuellar, 23-11, and Dave McNally, 20-7.

"I understand the Mets' pitching is good," Weaver said, "but so is ours. It's going to be good stuff against good stuff. With Tom Seaver and Jerry Koosman pitching for New York in the first two games, neither team may score many runs."

As for his voice, strained during the playoffs and aggravated by countless interviews since, Weaver claimed it would be all right by game time Saturday.

"I'll rise to the occasion," he said.

Montgomery Taking Part in Drills

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) The Arkansas Razorbacks worked for one hour, 45 minutes Wednesday, with quarterback Bill Montgomery taking part in the drills while in sweat clothes.

There still was no official word on whether Montgomery, who has bruised ribs, would start Saturday night in Waco, Tex., against Baylor.

Quarterback John Eichler may get the starting assignment if Montgomery's ribs remain too sore for him to face contact.

Montgomery was held out of the hitting parts of Wednesday's practice.

"The receivers looked good as did the passers," coach Frank Broyles commented after the session.

He said split end Chuck Dicus, flanker John Rees and flanker Steve Hockersmith "caught the ball with confidence."

The defense worked mainly on pass defense and goal line scrimmage.

Institute to Admit Women

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The president of one of the nation's leading scientific institutions says women will help "improve the aesthetic climate and... stimulate intellectual diversity."

President Harold Brown said Tuesday the California Institute of Technology—a male enclave of engineering and scientific studies—will admit 25 women in September.

Another 25 will arrive in 1971, and ultimately the campus will have 70 females—about 10 percent of the undergraduate enrollment.

Weger's Alert Play Earns Him Honors

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — It is an old National Football League tradition that Detroit usually beats Cleveland and the Lions' Mike Weger has made his contribution to the lopsided record.

Weger, a Bowling Green product in his third year of pro ball, recovered a fumbled center snap that ruined a Cleveland field goal effort and intercepted a pass with five minutes to go in the Lions' 28-21 win. It was Detroit's 11th victory over Cleveland in 13 meetings.

Weger's alert play earned him The Associated Press nomination as Defensive Player of the Week in the NFL.

The Browns led 21-7 in the third quarter and had reached the Lions' 13 where they decided to go for a field goal by Don Cockroft. Center Fred Hoaglin's errant snap squirted through the hands of holder Bill Nelson and Weger recovered on the Cleveland 49. This eventually led to a Detroit touchdown.

After the Lions had opened up a 28-21 lead, it was Weger who intercepted a pass on the Detroit 40 with five minutes to go.

Bob Atkins picked off two passes for St. Louis in a 27-14 win over Pittsburgh. Willis Crenshaw converted one interception by Atkins and one by Larry Wilson for scores.

Ralph Heck, New York middle linebacker, intercepted a pass that set up a Giant touchdown in a 28-24 thriller over the Chicago Bears. When the Bears decided to go for broke on a fourth down and inches situation on the Giants' 12, it was Heck in the middle of the pile that stopped it.

Bubba Smith's fumble recovery led to a Baltimore touchdown by Tom Matie at Atlanta, the first in a 21-14 victory.

Jim Marshall put the heavy pressure on Bart Starr as Minnesota downed Green Bay 19-7 and smeared the Packer passer eight times for a total loss of 63 yards.

Oklahoma, Texas Game on Television

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — It will be a homecoming of sorts for Jack Mildren, but this one will definitely be on the hostile side.

Mildren was the most sought after schoolboy football star in Texas when he graduated from Abilene Cooper in 1967. He chose to go to Oklahoma instead of a Texas school.

Now, a sophomore for the Sooners, Mildren will start at quarterback Saturday for Oklahoma against Texas in their 64th meeting which will be nationally televised.

Mildren said the game means so much to him.

"It's my home state," he says. "We can't lose. I couldn't go home. It's another year before we play 'em again. That's a long holiday."

Mildren said Oklahoma must

Hart Second in All-Time AIC Offense

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tommy Hart, a Henderson State College senior from Benton, has moved into second place in all-time Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference individual offense.

Hart has gained 5,194 yards in his football career with the Reddies, slipping ahead of the 5,032 gained in 1948-51 by David Anderson of Arkansas A&M.

Still first among alltime yardmakers in the AIC is Bobby Tiner, the Arkansas Diamonds quarterback who played AIC ball at State College of Arkansas.

Tiner's record total is 6,110 yards, 916 ahead of Hart.

Hart leads the AIC this year in passing with 397 yards gained, scoring with 36 points, and total offense with 693 yards.

Ouchita's Cliff Harris is the top punt returner with an average of 42 yards per return. Charlie Cobb of Henderson leads in kickoff returns with an average of 41.3 yards.

The best punting average is owned by Ted Addison of Southern State, who has 39.6 yards per kick. The top pass interceptors are Roy Eoff of Arkansas Tech and Johnny Tyler of SCA with three each.

The top rusher is Larry Brown of Tech with 344 yards. The top pass receiver is Bill LeFay of Henderson with 19 catches for 248 yards.

COMING & GOING

Mrs. Wayne Norwood spent last weekend in Cooper, Texas in the home of Evangelist Earnestine Pondexter, and her pastor, Elder Thomas and wife and other saints of the city. She also attended the State Convocation in Dallas, Texas and met many of the Saints from different parts of the world.

According to Mrs. Norwood, she was "given much hospitality and had a very enjoyable trip."

Rev. and Mrs. David Benton and family from Omaha, Neb., had dinner with Mrs. Lethia Lawson, William C. Armstrong from Palo Alto Calif., and Mrs. Nancy Burch from Klab, Okla., and also Mrs. Rosa Wilson was week guest at Mrs. Lawson's home.

OBITUARY

Rev. W. H. Russ, a native of Columbia County, Arkansas, and a retired minister in the Baptist church, passed away in a Prescott, Arkansas hospital October 6, 1969. He had pastored in Hempstead, Nevada, and Union Counties.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Cora Russ, one daughter, Mrs. Irene Corbit of Toledo, Ohio; two sons, Fred Russ of Little Rock, Arkansas and Herbert Russ of Michigan; two brothers, Ervin Russ of Muskogean, Michigan and Jordan Russ of Phoenix.

Arizona; two sisters, Mrs. Emma Curry of Little Rock, Arkansas and Mrs. Ola Lewis of Ouchita County, Arkansas and several grandchildren.

cut down on its mistakes to whip the second-ranked Longhorns.

"We'll have to keep away from penalties," Mildren said. "They have a good defense. I played against Halsell (linebacker Glen) in high school. We shoulda lettered him. He played in our backfield all night."

It will be the 64th meeting between the bitter rivals with Texas leading 40-21-2.

It's the first time both teams have come into the game undefeated since 1963. Oklahoma is eighth-ranked.

Texas coach Darrell Royal, and Oklahoma mentor Chuck Fairbanks spoke to the press in Dallas on a telephone hookup Tuesday.

Fairbanks said not enough good things had been said about the Texas defense.

"You hear a lot about Texas' offense, but their first team defense has allowed only two touchdowns in the last nine games," Fairbanks said.

Royal, of course, had something nice to say about Oklahoma.

He said Heisman Trophy candidate Steve Owens "has to be a great runner or he wouldn't have the statistics he has. And Mildren gives them the big play potential."

The plaudits from both sides will no doubt get louder. Nobody wants to say anything ugly that can be pinned to the opponents' locker room door.

Crawford in Record Round at Bella Vista

BELLA VISTA, Ark. (AP)— Dick Crawford took to the home course with a vengeance Wednesday, blistering his own record, and gathered up a seven-stroke lead going into today's last round of the South Central Section PGA golf tournament.

The touring PGA pro from Bella Vista shot a course-record six-under-par 66 to move from second by one stroke into first by seven. His two-day total was 138.

The first-round leader, David Lee of Hot Springs, shot up to a 79 in Wednesday's round, dropping out of sight with a 36-hole score of 149.

Today's 18-hole round is the last of the PGA competition. The winner will go to the 1970 National PGA tournament in Tulsa, Okla. No date for the tournament has been set.

Crawford held the previous course record of 70. It also was bettered Wednesday by Pete Barker of Little Rock, who shot a 69 for a two-day score of 146.

Six club professionals were chosen on the basis of 36-hole scores to compete in the National Club Pros tournament Nov. 13-16 at Scottsdale, Ariz.

They were Barker, Pete Fleming of Hot Springs, Art Proctor of Oklahoma City, Dick Metz of Meeker, Okla., Larry Campbell of Fort Smith and Chris Gers of Ardmore, Okla.

Indians Are Promised a Better Deal

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Assurances by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and Secretary of the Interior Walter J. Hickel of a brighter future for the American Indian met with a mixed reaction from tribal leaders.

Both promised the 26th annual convention of the National Congress of American Indians Wednesday that the Nixon administration will maintain and improve federal guardianship of Indian lands and resources while giving Indians more voice in their own affairs.

However, Hickel made no mention of any plan to reorganize the Bureau of Indian Affairs, which had been sharply attacked by some convention delegates, and was subjected to sporadic heckling.

Wendell Chino, president of the congress, described Agnew's remarks as a "positive statement by the administration that was well received."

But he said the Indians were inclined to reserve judgment on Hickel and Nixon-appointed Indian Affairs Commissioner Louis R. Bruce, a Sioux-Mohawk, and would hold "these individuals to their statements."

Lehman L. Brightman, president of the United Native Americans, Inc., and a convention delegate, said he would circulate petitions calling for Hickel's removal as secretary of the interior.

"Hickel is the greatest enemy of the American Indian," Brightman said.

The secretary was heckled for a time by a small group of self-styled militants, but they quieted at the urging of Chino and Gov. David F. Cargo.

Hickel told the delegates he and the Bureau of Indian Affairs "will listen to you, work with you and implement the policies which, through mutual understanding, will be designed to further improve your state in life."

Hickel said the Nixon administration has no intention of abandoning federal trusteeship over Indian lands.

"Let me set the record straight so that there will not be any further misunderstanding," he said. "Neither I nor this administration has a pro-termination policy. Such a policy can only be established by the Indian community itself, through a clear mandate on the part of your people."

Hickel said he is establishing an Indian advisory committee composed of Indian and Interior Department representatives, and that Morris Thompson, an Alaskan Indian, will become his special adviser on Indian Affairs in Washington.

He stressed the need for im-

Some Think China Would Ease Hostility

NEW YORK (AP) — Nixon administration officials say Communists China has indicated that it wants to ease its hostile stand toward the United States, the New York Times said today.

In a dispatch from Washington, Peter Grose said various branches of the government are studying what response to make, as a possible preliminary to opening talks with the Chinese.

Diplomats from Western countries who met Chinese officials in Peking last week during ceremonies marking the 20th anniversary of the Communist state reported little anti-American in-vestigation was displayed, the Times said.

These diplomats also reported a Chinese interest in easing trade and travel restrictions with the United States.

provement in Indian education, more involvement of Indians in school affairs and increased efforts to combat Indian unemployment.

"Let me use this meeting to pledge to you that the American Indian will not be the Forgotten American in this administration," Hickel said.

"But in the final analysis, the future of the Indians, America's First Citizens, must be shaped by the Indians for the Indians,"

Reports of Attack Shake Red China

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

It could be that Peking was badly shaken by what many interpreted as inspired rumors in Moscow that the Soviet military brass was weighing the possibility of action against Red China, perhaps even a pre-emptive strike against China's burgeoning nuclear arsenal.

Peking's statement Tuesday on the border situation suggested a change of heart that there was more to the rumors than Moscow cared to admit. There seemed an agitated "don't you dare" note in the statement.

"Should a handful of war maniacs dare to raid China's strategic sites in defiance of world condemnation, that will be war, that will be aggression, and the 700 million Chinese people will rise up in resistance and use revolutionary war to eliminate the war of aggression," Peking said.

The statement was presented in the form of a letter to the Kremlin agreeing to new talks at the deputy foreign minister level to seek measures to preserve the status quo along the nervous China-Soviet frontiers. The talks are expected to start within the next two weeks.

The statement hastened to assure Moscow and the world that China has no warlike intentions and does not even seek the return of land it has long claimed was taken by unfair treaties in Russia's imperial days.

Moscow has denounced the rumors that a military move was being weighed. But one source of the rumors was Victor Louis, writing as the Moscow correspondent for a British newspaper, and that is certain to make Peking suspicious that the Kremlin planted the rumor.

The 41-year-old Louis, also known as Vitaly Luit, is a Soviet citizen with remarkable access to high places in Moscow. Western sources say he has connections with the KGB, the Soviet intelligence service.

Until Premier Alexei Kosygin visited Premier Chou En-lai on Sept. 11, the Red Chinese were all belligerence. In recent weeks, while they have still been prodding the Russians as "social imperialists," they have lowered their voices noticeably.

Inmate Sentenced for Contempt

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Federal Judge J. Smith Henley sentenced George Reeves, a former inmate of Tucker Prison Farm, to six months for contempt when he refused to answer questions in the trial of Ernest L. Fletcher, of Jonesboro in U.S. District Court.

Reeves' sentence will be added to a 15-year term he is now serving for bank burglary at the federal penitentiary at Fort Leavenworth, Kan. Reeves refused to answer questions on the ground he might incriminate himself.

Henley sentenced Reeves Wednesday.

Moratorium on War Planned by Students

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Some students at eight colleges in Arkansas plan special Vietnam observances next Wednesday when the nationwide Vietnam Moratorium is to be held.

The observances in Arkansas range from speeches, letter-writing sessions, parade, panel Rep. Herbert Rule of Little discussions, songs, reading of letters from Vietnam and memorial services for war dead.

The colleges which will be the scenes of the observances include the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville, the U of A at Little Rock, Arkansas State University, College of the Sarks, State College of Arkansas, Hendrix College, Arkansas

Two Disappear Like Houdini

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Two men did a disappearing act from the long vacant home of the late magician Harry Houdini when city firemen and police arrived at a 10-acre brush fire near the hillside home.

Officers said the fire late Tuesday night seemed set, and the men failed to halt when halled. Police said they fired shots at the men, who fled over a hillside. The fire was extinguished without damage to nearby dwellings.

China Gives Up Claim to a Vast Area

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China appeared today to renounce its claim to a vast area of former Chinese territory annexed by Czarist Russia.

Spelling out its approach to the talks that are to open in Peking "soon" to discuss border issues, Peking said in a 4,500-word document: "China does not demand the return to Chinese territory which Czarist Russia annexed by means of these treaties."

The areas involved are the Soviet far east maritime provinces, in which the port of Vladivostok is located, and a region north of Sinkiang.

In earlier assertions on the border situation, the Chinese had hinted they might raise the entire question of the legality of the annexations, which were carried out under the Chinese-Russian treaties in the second half of the 19th century.

Today, the Chinese asked only that the Russians concede that these treaties were unequal, and suggested that the treaties could help determine the entire alignment of the boundary line.

Radicals on Rampage in Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — Young radicals rampaged through the Near North Side late Wednesday, clashing with police, and two persons were found shot near the scene of the disturbances. Police estimated about 500 people were involved.

The gunshot victims were identified as Marshall Berzon, 22, of Connecticut and Elizabeth Gardner, 26, of Seattle. Both were listed in satisfactory condition in a hospital.

Police said a passerby found the two at a North Side intersection where there were smashed windows and about two blocks from the scene of the nearest police-demonstrators fight.

Nine other persons suffered minor injuries and police arrested 46 men and 19 women, mostly on charges of disorderly conduct.

The fighting came at the opening of a planned four-day national action called by the militant "Weathermen" faction of the Students for a Democratic Society.

Some 100 demonstrators fought with dozens of police at Lake Shore Drive and Michigan Avenue near the Drake Hotel. Many were arrested.

The hotel is the home of Judge Julius J. Hoffman, who is presiding in the U.S. District Court trial of eight men on charges of conspiracy to incite riots at the 1968 Democratic National Convention. At State and Division streets, five blocks away, police, using clubs and an antiriot gas, dispersed about 100 demonstrators who had marched down Clark Street smashing windshields and store windows.

The demonstrators pounded on two squad cars with bricks, shattering the windshields and dented the bodies.

As police waded into make arrests most of the protesters fled into a crowd of onlookers or fled into side streets.

In a clash in the nearby Old Town district west of Lincoln Park, four men and a woman were placed in a police van after a brief skirmish with police.

Many demonstrators wore helmets and carried clubs. Some carried chains. Some wore hippie regalia but many wore blue denim jackets with Viet Cong flags sewn on the backs.

Police said Berzon was wounded in the chest, arm and neck. They said Miss Gardner was wounded in a thigh. Officials said they were not certain that the shootings were related to the clashes between police and radicals.

Shortly after midnight police reported that the groups of demonstrators had been scattered. The area of the disorders appeared peaceful.

The "Weathermen" faction emerged from the SDS convention in Chicago in June with control over the national office. "Weathermen" say their national demonstrations here will be the "most militant in the history of the New Left."

Gives Birth to Child After Sex Change

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — A British-born white author who married a Negro mechanic after announcing a sex-change operation says she has given birth to a daughter she calls "a miracle child."

Dawn Langley Hall Simmons, 39, said in an interview at her home Wednesday, "My child will be brought to Charleston in about three weeks. Then I'm going to put her in a baby carriage and walk her right down on thatilly-white Battery."

The antebellum mansions on the Battery, the historic waterfront, houses many of the aristocratic Charlestonians in whose society Gordon Langley Hall was welcome before the operation.

Mrs. Simmons said the child is a 7-pound girl born in the Midwest Sept. 16. She would not identify the hospital or her doctor.

At the time of her announcement three weeks ago that she was pregnant, doctors at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, Md., where the sex-change operation took place last year, said it was definitely impossible for Mrs. Simmons to become pregnant.

Mrs. Simmons said, "I believe that God is higher than medical science and that's my explanation. She's a miracle child and will be a great blessing to the black people."

Mrs. Simmons is the former foster son and now the foster daughter of British actress Dame Margaret Rutherford.

Her husband, John Paul Simmons, about 25, was a mechanic when he married her Jan. 23. He is now working on a shrimp boat.

8 Charged in Montreal Police Strike

MONTREAL (AP) — Eight men were charged Wednesday in connection with the violence during Montreal's police strike, and insurance companies began to deal with damage claims arising from the five hours of burning, vandalism and looting.

Two persons were killed, several were injured and millions of dollars worth of damage occurred during the 16-hour walk-out Tuesday by police and firemen. The strike ended after the Quebec provincial assembly passed legislation ordering the men back on duty.

Cpl. Robert Dumas, 32, father of four and a 12-year veteran of the provincial police, was killed in a battle between cab drivers and employees of a limousine company. The other man was a burglar. A doctor surprised the man in his home, far from the downtown violence, and shot him in the chest and stomach.

Provincial police, who took over law enforcement during the strike, remained in charge despite the return to duty of the 3,700-man police force and most of the 2,400-man fire department. Quebec Premier Jean Jacques Bertrand said the provincial police would stay until he was sure the city police were able and willing to maintain order.

Bertrand also said negotiations with the policemen's and firemen's unions were resuming in an attempt to settle the wage dispute that started the strike.

The provincial police arrested 98 persons Tuesday night. Most were released later, but eight were arraigned Wednesday and 31 others were to be charged today.

New Find Gives Hope to End Many Diseases

By RALPH DIGHTON
AP Science Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — New findings about the inner workings of cells offer hope that scientists may end many diseases, even alter heridity, "with much less time and money than it took to put a man on the moon," a noted biochemist says.

Dr. Arthur Kornberg of Stanford University School of Medicine told a meeting of the American College of Surgeons about discovery of an enzyme that repairs damaged chromosomes, the clumps in the nucleus of cells which control growth and development.

He said many diseases result from chromosomal damage and that he suspects the real cause is failure of the enzyme to do its repair job properly.

He later told a news conference Wednesday that it may become possible to use enzymes, the chemical middle men in the reactions that take place within the body, not only to repair chromosomes but to change their makeup.

Changing the makeup of chromosomes would enable scientists to control the shape and function of future generations of plants, animals and men.

Kornberg said the repair enzyme, called DNA polymerase, has been shown in laboratory studies to be able to restore radiation-damaged portions of the double-stranded molecules of deoxyribonucleic acid (DNA) that make up chromosomes.

"Although we have done this so far only in test tubes, we assume the same things happen in living cells," Kornberg said, adding that powerful electron microscopes have photographed the process.

The repaired DNA then resumes directing production of substances that the cell needs to grow into bone, muscle or nerve tissue.

Asked how enzymes capable of repairing or altering chromosomes could be placed in individual cells, Kornberg suggested they might be carried by viruses.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

SHE HAS AN ITCH TO HITCH

Dear Helen: Is there anything wrong with a girl hitch hiking? I love to travel and I can't get a car until next year when I graduate from high school.

I hitched by myself once and was picked up by an elderly couple who gave me a lecture about how immoral I was.

The next time I took a friend along, but she eventually chickened out.

I would love to hitch hike across country. After all, most people can be trusted, right? — WONDERRER WANDERER

Dear W. W.: Most people can be trusted, true, but a girl hitchhiker is fair game for the few who can't. You could end up mugged, raped, or even murdered, for types who pick up female hitchhikers often expect a lot more than conversation.

P. S. I'll get static from girls who think hitching is "thumb fun," but I still say, forget it unless you don't care what you lose—including your life!—H.

Dear Helen: Here are some good put-offs for girls who aren't "dedicated to the proposition":

1. Are you kidding?
2. I'll punch you right in the nose!

3. I'd hate myself in the morning.
4. I'm saving that for my wedding night.

5. But darling, it's so biological!
6. I'd rather have you as a friend.

7. I thought I could trust you!
8. I really expected YOU would be the different one!

9. Hands! Hands! Hands!
10. Baby, put the ring on the finger first.

11. How can you even suggest such a thing with a straight face?
12. My astrologer says I should confine myself to routine matters.

13. At THIS time of night?
14. Sex can ruin a beautiful friendship. (As your daughter says, Helen.)

15. Take your hands off me, you rat!
16. No!!
17. HELP!

Good Luck girls. — STILL POPULAR
Dear Helen: Why do some parents and other misguided people make such a fuss about sex education in schools? It isn't at all like those crazy stories you hear. I don't know how these anti-sex-education shouters get such dumb ideas.

We have a fine family life

U.N. Is Late As World Woes Wait

General Assembly chamber awaits delegate's arrival.

By TOM TIEDE
NEA Staff Correspondent

UNITED NATIONS—(NEA)—Outside, the world seethes with war, prejudice and starvation. A land mine explodes under a soldier in Vietnam. A child starves to death in Biafra. Snipers are on duty along the Israel-Arab border. Black men waste about and away in the United States.

Inside, however, it is business as usual.

Another plenary meeting of the United Nations General Assembly is about to convene. The purpose, as stated in the U.N. charter: to maintain international peace and security, to develop friendly relations among nations, to solve international economic, social, cultural and humanitarian problems, and to promote fundamental human rights.

The schedule calls for the gavel at 3 p.m. It is 3:30.

In the assembly chamber, hard by midtown Manhattan's First Avenue, there is silence. Three spectators wait on spongy blue seats in a darkened gallery. A security guard is nearly asleep against a gray wall which rises up into a hulking, brilliant, beautiful dome. Down on the green-carpeted assembly floor, row after row of long oaken tables, reserved for delegates of 126 member nations, are empty.

A stocky Negro usher is putting yellow pencils on the tables. He says he doesn't know where everybody is. Maybe they went to a baseball game, he grins, every now and then they'll do that.

More likely, however, another meeting is going on, between a few nations, thus holding up all nations. Meetings are endless at the U.N. Last year, according to Jiri Nosek, a conference services official, there were 2,580 official and unofficial meetings in the regular 13-week session. The general assembly held 561 of them lasting 1,147 hours and 10 minutes.

It is 4 p.m.
The Negro usher yawns. And gets up to double-check the delegates' interpretation earphones. Each phone has five channels. The official U.N. languages are English, French, Spanish, Russian and Chinese. Not many of the delegates, the usher winks, bother to listen to any of them.

Then the man straightens some of the U.N. Journals he has placed around. The Journal is the daily listing of U.N. events. It is one of thousands of documents printed daily on U.N. presses. Before the end of this current session (adjournment is in December), more than 525 million pages will have been reproduced, using some 3.5 million tons of paper.

Five o'clock.
A couple of young guides enter the chamber. They sit down directly under one of two enclosed balconies of international television, radio and newsreel booths. They giggle and gaggle. They are meeting for the first time, which isn't unusual; the U.N. employs nearly 10,000 people around the world, more than 4,000 of them here in New York.

Five-fifteen.
Continued silence. But everything's ready. Ice water at the marble podium. Two paper pads per delegate table. Lights beginning to wink on in the newsreel and interpretation booths. And the big electronic voting board, listing Afghanistan to Zambia, prepared to record decisions.

Five-thirty.
Now the delegates, a few of them, begin to emerge. An African in bare feet. An Arab bodyguard with a bulge inside his breast pocket. All sizes, colors, religions. Each nation is authorized a maximum of five representatives and each nation is given six chairs in the assembly.

Five-forty-five.
More come. Shirley Temple Black, the newest U.S. representative, joins a gray-suited male at the U.S. table, between Syria and Austria and across from Upper Volta. Mrs. Black is as cute as ever. But serious now. No twinkles any longer. She digs into an armload of papers.

Six p.m.
The gentleman from Malawi scratches his neck. Somebody from Kuwait drums his fingers. Cameroon's representative is tying his shoe.

Then, at the podium, a massive marble structure 15 steps above the floor, the president of this 24-year-old body, Angie Brooks of Liberia, sits down. She's dressed in turban and beads. A moment later the secretary general of this $150-million-a-year assembly, U Thant, joins her. He's dressed, slight, solemn, in dark blue.

Finally, at 6:15, some three hours late, the gavel raps. The foreign minister of Iceland is recognized for a 30-minute speech. And the general assembly, or about 30 per cent of it anyway, at last begins to hear once again about the world outside—war, prejudice, and starvation.

'Best Stocks Buys' Myth Ground Up in Computer

By CARLTON SMITH and RICHARD PUTNAM PRATT

The trouble with conventional wisdom is that it's almost always wrong.

Whether it's such rural lore as "lightning never strikes twice in the same place," or city-slicker talk like "you can't fight city hall," there's every possibility that a little investigation will prove the opposite is true.

Apparently, what's true of the rest of the world is also true of Wall Street, which harbors more than its share of such sayings. The latest to be challenged is, "The stocks that hold up best in a market decline are the best buys for the following upswing."

Pratt Smith

Thousands of butchers, bakers and little old ladies may believe that but the brokerage house of Paine, Webber, Jackson & Curtis doesn't. At least, not any more.

Using its trusty computer to study the price patterns of 800 stocks, the brokerage house has developed a line of thinking that opposes the commonly held assumption. Here's how they did it:

They ranked the stocks in five groups, according to their prices changes, ranging from those that held up best to those that slumped the most in the market slides of 1962 and 1966.

They found that those which fell the farthest in the March-June, 1962, and June-September, 1966, periods rebounded the most in the next six months. The group hit the hardest in the '62 decline, for example, had an average gain of 17 per cent in the six months after June of that year.

The 1966 market slide provides corroborating evidence. That year, the group that dropped the most rose an average of 40.5 per cent in the six months that followed September of that year.

The boys at Paine, Webber certainly qualify as the most recent myth-deflators, but they are only extending an established idea. In his book, "How to Buy Stocks," Louis Engel devotes a chapter to debunking common sayings that he considers dangerous guides. Here are a few:

Buy Them and Put Them Away—Engel points out that if you had been an early investor in auto stocks, this piece of advice could have ruined you. You'd have been in good shape, he wrote, if you had bought and held GM shares. But in those days it was Stutz Bearcat stock that looked hot and you'd have lost your shirt on that one.

You Never Go Broke Taking a Profit—The author doesn't deny this obvious truth but suggests that it is no substitute for judgment. He points out that if you had bought 100 shares of IBM in 1914, you could have sold at a good profit in 1925. But if you'd held on until 1961, your investment would have been worth $7.2 million.

Cut Your Losses Quickly—If you sell at the first quiver a stock makes, Engel states, you are likely to be reacting to false signals. The quiver may be caused only by a big block sold simply to raise cash, an event that has nothing to do with the stock's fundamental value.

Congress Not Quick to Let P.O. Go; Corporation Loses

Recent Democratic Postmasters General and the current Republican have all recommended that the present Congress-operated Post Office Department be junked and its business turned over to a non-profit government corporation independent of the politicians.

Critics score these points against the Post Office Department as it exists today:

1. It is still largely a manual operation in an age when private business is automated.

2. It is dominated by postal unions looking after the interests of the post office workers and ignoring the taxpaying public who are the P. O.'s customers.

3. Post Office Department policies and rates are determined in the main by the distributors of "junk mail," putting pressure on Congress which controls the P. O., to the detriment of the users of first- and second-class mail.

4. The Post Office Department is one of the worst deficit areas in the entire federal picture, with losses running close to a billion dollars a year.

In the final analysis, however, the top business brains of America, called in to make recommendations to the federal government, unanimously fixed the blame on congressional meddling with the P. O. and urged that the department be abolished in favor of a government corporation protected against the political Congress.

That there is a good deal of truth in this observation was shown yesterday when an Associated Press Washington dispatch in this newspaper reported that the House Post Office Committee heard arguments for and against the corporation idea, and then rejected it by a tie vote, 13-13.

The congressmen, of course, were being asked to preside over their own liquidation as mismanagers of the Post Office Department—so the reform idea's defeat wasn't either extraordinary or unexpected.

But there is a ground swell of public indignation which sooner or later will show up in congressional elections, and the day will finally come when we have a Congress so enlightened and mindful of the public interest that it will drop its stranglehold on the Post Office Department—so mailmen can concentrate on their business... carrying the mail.

Inmate Loses Case of Rights Violation

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Ernest Fletcher, 58, of Jonesboro was acquitted Wednesday in U. S. District Court on a charge of violating a prison inmate's rights by administering summary punishment.

The verdict ended the first of the trials resulting from 46 indictments handed down against 15 persons by a U. S. Grand Jury last July 11 in connection with alleged brutality at Tucker Prison Farm.

Fletcher formerly was a warden at the farm, but was one of three dismissed after State Police investigated prison practices.

The indictment said Fletcher used a five-foot leather strap on former inmate Jerry Dean Ivens. Punishment with the strap formerly was common in the state's prisons, but a federal court banned the use of it as cruel and unusual punishment.

The jury of seven men and five women deliberated almost two hours before returning the verdict on the third day of the trial.

Ivens, 23, had testified that he was struck at least 11 times by a strap swung by Fletcher in August 1966. Another former Tucker inmate, David S. Lasley, also 23, testified that Fletcher hit Ivens 14 or 15 times with the strap.

Douglas Bradley of Jonesboro, Fletcher's attorney, urged the jury not to convict Fletcher on the testimony of "two thugs."

He said Fletcher was "clean as a hound's tooth—a man who cries with pride when he speaks about his family."

War Deaths Lowest in Three Years

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP)—The total of American battlefield deaths in Vietnam dropped last week to 64, the lowest weekly toll since December 1966, the U.S. Command announced today.

The reduction in American casualties continued a generally downward trend that began three months ago. Official sources said if this trend continues, it could prompt President Nixon to speed up American troop withdrawals.

However, the sources cautioned that although significant enemy activity is at its lowest level for this year, captured enemy documents and prisoner reports indicate a winter campaign beginning in November. Therefore, American forces have not curtailed their offensive operations to keep the enemy from getting set in position.

Casualty totals for South Vietnamese government forces and for the enemy also were down considerably last week, and the government's military headquarters said in a communique: "The level of enemy activities during last week was the lowest since the beginning of the year and it decreased six per cent compared to that of the previous week."

The U.S. Command reported 900 Americans wounded in action last week, the lowest total since 599 were wounded during the first week of the year, Dec. 29-Jan. 4.

The weekly report raised to 38,887 the total number of American troops reported killed in action in Vietnam since Jan. 1, 1961. The total number of American battlefield wounded reported rose to 254,274.

The U.S. Command said enemy battlefield deaths now total 558,552 since the beginning of 1961.

U.S. headquarters also reported two American aircraft shot down Wednesday. An Air Force F4 Phantom fighter-bomber was downed 10 miles southeast of Da Nang, but the two crewmen escaped unhurt. A small army observation helicopter was shot down 22 miles southeast of Saigon, wounding two crewmen.

A Warming Trend Is Expected

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A warming trend is expected in Arkansas as the cool front that has sprawled across the state for the past two days begins to weaken. While daytime temperatures will rise, cool autumn nights will remain.

Another cold front was moving southward through the Northern Rockies today, and is expected to trigger scattered showers in Western Arkansas by Friday afternoon. Showers are likely in the rest of the state Saturday.

The front should approach Northwest Arkansas by late Friday night, moving across the state Saturday and bringing cooler weather again by Sunday and Monday.

Machines Can't Get the Joy of Remembering That Man Does Himself

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Man can make machines that remember, but no machine gets the joy out of remembering that man does himself.

It is his memories, indeed, that largely make a man. They are food to his mind, fuel to his spirit. They resurrect his past and are his chief sanctuary from muffled oblivion.

For no yesterday is dead so long as it is remembered.

Your own album of memories is pretty extensive if you can look back and remember when—

Entertainers to Tell Probers of Kickbacks; Two Lose Their Medals

By LAWRENCE L. KNUTSON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate probe that has caused a general and a sergeant to be stripped of top medals is focusing on charges entertainers were forced to pay kickbacks in order to appear at service clubs in Vietnam.

June Collins, booking agent who packages shows for the Army's club system in Vietnam, was called today to tell the Senate's investigators subcommittee about charges that extra fees were charged entertainers by sergeants who managed the facilities.

The allegation that kickbacks were made last month by Ruben Noel, a singer and comedian who has played the Vietnam troop circuit.

Noel had said performers had to kickback $50 or 10 per cent of their fees.

He quoted one sergeant as telling him: "You're going to face some miserable club custodians who are going to ask you for kickbacks on shows. I know this is going on and there's not a damn thing I can do about it."

In Wednesday's testimony, senators were led through a maze of financial transactions by the Maredon Corp., a firm a committee investigator said was formed by sergeants from illicit profits made in Germany.

Maredon was also the vehicle for squeezing more money from clubs the sergeants then were running in Vietnam, the investigator charged.

In a separate development, the Army said Wednesday it had revoked its award of the Distinguished Service Medal to Maj. Gen. Carl C. Turner. The former provost marshal is accused of using his post for personal profit and to protect the alleged leader of a "little Mafia" of top enlisted men—Sgt. Maj. William O. Woodbridge.

Last month the Army yanked the Distinguished Service Medal it had bestowed on Woodbridge, the first soldier ever appointed sergeant major of the Army, that service's highest and most

Haynsworth Approved by Committee

By H. L. SCHWARTZ III
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Judiciary Committee today approved the nomination of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth to the Supreme Court.

Approval came on a vote of 10 to 6. Maryland Republican Charles McC. Mathias abstained.

A Judiciary Committee spokesman said Mathias wanted still more time to look into Haynsworth's record as a federal judge and into the financial dealings that have sparked major criticism of him.

Mathias took that position although Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., said most of today's two-hour committee meeting was spent discussing Haynsworth's financial holdings, particularly his interest in a vending machine company.

Eastland said there was no discussion about when the nomination would come up on the Senate floor. Before the nomination can be officially reported to the Senate, minority and majority reports must be compiled within the committee and this could take several days.

The nomination still faces an uncertain future in the Senate. President Nixon, in the face of defections by two Republican Senate leaders, is continuing to stand by his nomination of Haynsworth.

Voting in committee for Haynsworth were Sens. Eastland, Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., Roman L. Hruska, R-Nebr., Marlow W. Cook, R-Ky., John L. McClellan, D-Ark., Sam J. Ervin Jr. D-N.C., Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., Hiram L. Fong, R-Hawaii, Robert G. Byrd, D-W. Va., and Hugh Scott, R-Pa.

Voting against Haynsworth were Sens. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., Griffin B. Bay, D-Ind., Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md., and Quentin N. Burdick, D-N.Dak.

The latest reaffirmation that Haynsworth was still the President's man came Wednesday as the Senate Judiciary Committee—delayed meeting to act on the appointment, postponing its session until today.

Tax Reform Bill Fate Doubtful

By JOE HALL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—The surge of public sentiment for tax reform has ebbed at the Capitol, leaving in doubt the fate of many provisions of a House-passed bill.

The falloff in strong support for reform was reported by the Senate Finance Committee and individual senators.

And as the committee was preparing for today's start of closed-door work on the bill, several of the 17 members indicated they will vote to kill or revise many sections.

Finance completed five weeks of hearings on the legislation Wednesday after calling 269 witnesses and receiving statements of more than 400 others.

Although hearings were finished on schedule, it is not certain the committee can meet a commitment to the Senate Democratic leadership to complete action on the bill by Oct. 31.

Of the almost 700 witnesses who testified or filed statements, all but a handful opposed some part of the House bill.

Governors and mayors asked the committee to kill provisions of the House bill affecting tax-exempt bonds.

They said House passage of these had made it almost impossible to sell bonds in some cases and had forced interest rates even higher in others.

Long suggested his group might consider this issue first. It seemed likely the committee would vote to strike the provisions from the bill.

Consumer May Have to Pay More for Meat, Packing Industry Says

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—Consumers will have to pay even more for beef if cattlemen are expected to satisfy the nation's increasing hunger for meat, according to a packing industry spokesman.

"With all due sympathy for their problems," Herrell DeGraff told congressmen Wednesday, "I have to say to consumers that on a continuing basis they cannot have both the beef supply they want and the level of beef prices they seem to want."

DeGraff, president of the American Meat Institute, said the cattle industry had reached

450 Taking Part in 4-H Club Week

National 4-H Week, October 5-11, is being observed by some 450 4-H members, leaders, parents and friends of 4-H throughout Hempstead County reports Mrs. Alphonso Denham, Associate Extension Home Economist.

Hempstead County 4-H'ers are among more than 3 million boys and girls in the U.S. who benefit from work projects in which they learn something new or how to do something better. The most popular projects in Hempstead County are Clothing, Foods, Handicraft, Health, Beef, Automotive, and Safety.

National 4-H Week also gives local volunteer 4-H leaders a pat on the back for their dedicated service. Their skills and knowledge cover a wide range. The County Extension staff trains and assists local leaders.

Approximately 16 men and women leaders in the county meet regularly with the 4-H'ers to help guide their endeavors toward satisfactory completion, Mrs. Denham said.

"Opportunity for all" is the theme of 1969 National 4-H Week, and that includes parents, as well. Without encouragement and support from mother and dad, the youngsters' 4-H experiences would definitely be limited, she added.

Any boy or girl between 9 and 19 years of age who wants to join 4-H, and adults who would like to volunteer as leaders are invited to contact the County Extension office in the Court-house. The telephone number is 777-5771.

Fake Lunar Rock Racket Feared

By TOM TIEDE
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (NEA)—"Passsst! Hey bud, Com'ere a sec. See this? Know what it is? It's a gen-u-wine piece of the moon. No foolin'. And listen, it's yours for only $1.00, er, 10 bucks cash."

Sound preposterous? It is preposterous. But, believe it or not, some street corner characters and box office businesses in several parts of the nation are trying to peddle, yes, moon rocks.

And even more preposterous, some people are buying them.

• In Redwood City, Calif., a woman has taken advertisements out in periodicals announcing "moon dust" for sale. At $1.98 an ounce. She tells official inquiries, including probing newsmen, she is doing it as a gag. But adds she has indeed filled several orders.

• In Miami, Fla., a housewife has been approached by a door-to-door salesman dealing in "lunar rocks." She bought $5 worth. When her husband got home, she said later, "he almost hit the moon himself." She never reported the incident to authorities; "I'm too embarrassed."

• In New York, the Harlem Better Business Bureau is cautioning consumers against purchasing any kind of "obviously fake" moon substances. The bureau says it believes some sales have already been made—and feels that space-struck youngsters are especially susceptible.

Fortunately, these examples, for the time being anyway, are the exception. Authorities in several metropolitan areas say they have no evidence that any large-scale lunar rackets are developing.

Too, the examples do not necessarily represent illegal-

"Passsst!!"

dising frauds."

And the Harlem Better Business Bureau adds this: "It may seem incredible to think that anyone would fall for something like a moon rock sale. But these things do happen. Our records are full of some of the most incredible sales imaginable."

Larrie O'Farrell, who is the public relations director for the Harlem bureau, says bluntly that, alas, "people are very, very gullible." She says middle-class people are least so, but very low and very high income groups tend to be victimized by all kinds of spoofs.

Says Miss O'Farrell: "I'm not really surprised that people buy moon rocks."

Not when I consider all the other things they've bought. For example, the lady who came in one day to say that she just got a new Ouija board, but it didn't give the right answers, so she felt she was cheated. Then there are the hundreds of people who have purchased a ridiculous automotive attachment that is claimed to increase gas mileage by 500 miles-per-gallon.

"But the most impossible thing I remember anybody ever falling for was the 'guaranteed bug killer' of a few years ago. They cost $2.98. We had so many complaints we bought one ourselves. Know what it was? It was two boards hooked together with a rubber band. The instructions—I'm not kidding, there were instructions—said to get your bug, place him on the board, and hit him with the other board. Guaranteed!"

Thus it is that concerned authorities, knowing human nature, look at early reports of lunar merchandizing with a sigh of here-we-go-again.

Today, it's moon rocks. Tomorrow maybe gen-u-wine moon cheese. And a decade hence? "Look, mister, I tell you this lunar module is in perfect shape. It was only driven once—and by a very elderly astronaut at that."

SALVAGING HUMAN BEINGS is the main course at a vocational training center in remote Tam Ky, Vietnam. At left, Bob Flint, an American Red Cross nurse, bathes and treats Vietnamese children for sores. A team of ARC and Vietnamese Red Cross workers provide health and welfare care in the refugee area. Michael Naumer, right, an ARC specialist, teaches vocational skills to refugees displaced by the war.

Lawyers Ask Code Be Adopted

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court was formally asked Tuesday to adopt the new American Bar Association code of professional responsibility as the guide for Arkansas lawyers.

The request was made by Robert L. Jones Jr. of Fort Smith, president of the Arkansas Bar Association.

The national association's code was drafted by a committee headed by Edward L. Wright of Little Rock, president-elect of the American Bar Association.

Sportsmen's Catalogue That Sells and Instructs

By JIM CROSSLEY

One of the great annual sportsmen's publications is out. The 1970 edition of Herter's catalogue is now dispensing entertainment and discontent among the faithful as they thumb through it. This is volume 80.

"Since 1893 manufacturers, importers, exporters. Tenacious for quality."

New customers pay a buck for a copy, which is refunded with the first $10 order. Regular buyers automatically remain on the mailing list.

Mentioning Waseca, Minn., is like giving the sportsmen's password. This town of 6,600, south of Minneapolis, is the firm's headquarters.

There are other sports equipment catalogues avidly awaited by outdoorsmen, such as L. L. Bean's, Netcraft's, Cabela's and the specialized Sears publications. It is safe to say, however, that there's nothing quite like the close-to-700 pages of Herter's.

The difference is the text of the sales pitches. They are rambling and many times quaint. Reading the book is like joining the Herter family and the descriptions of merchandise are so personal they almost call you by name.

The book doesn't waste any time at the start. On Page 4, after an introduction to "our present president, George Leonard Herter," it projects the readers into a treasury of duck decoys.

Even though he might know nothing about duck hunting, a novice, by reading the type carefully, can wind up with a thorough course of training.

Read on through guns, bows, all types of angling equipment, boats, snowmobiles, skis, snowshoes, skin diving accouterments, cabin equipment of every description. (Even throwing knives and decoys for the extinct passenger pigeon are there.)

The reader meanders through such nuggets as this one regarding swan hunting, illegal in most places for many years: "A University of Alaska research unit record shows 5,600 killed there per year. They got their figures by asking people how many they killed each spring and fall. This is like asking a holdup man how many places he held up per year. Of course, they didn't tell them the truth."

Outdoor footwear: "The American cowboy boot was brought to North America via Mexico by the Spanish dancers and is a Spanish dancing boot. It was worn here for dress at first and then became a fad. The real cowboy wore a pull-on, flat-heeled boot, not the high-heeled, sharply pointed dancing boots."

Winemaking, for which the company offers equipment, a holdover, no doubt, from earlier American husbandry: "How to make gourmet, first-quality wine from grapes, old potatoes, carrots and parsnips, dandelions, fruit, oranges, flower blossoms, clover, apples, dried fruit, etc."

On diamonds (precious stones are another unusual specialty): "We are definitely not in the diamond business. The Herters for generations have hunted in Africa and manufactured in Europe. For weddings and gifts, they found it impossible to purchase 10-power diamonds and this made them a little mad... The Herters have personal friends in South Africa that let them have a limited supply of 10-power, perfect diamonds. It is a personal favor, etc."

Poring over the highly flavored prose keeps many a sportsman warm during the winter months, waiting until he can try newly purchased equipment ("Such a deadly lure that it has been barred from New Zealand's trout waters") when summer returns.

More Drinkers

Liquor consumption in the United States has reached a record high of more than 325 million gallons per year due, in part, to the elimination of prohibition by local option in many states, adding some 410,000 people in those areas where spirits may now be sold legally, according to the Britannica Book of the Year.

Language Oddity

The Polynesian language is one of the least known of the world's languages and is spoken by less than a million persons in a group of Pacific islands covering a larger segment of the globe than that encompassing the native speakers of any other language, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.
